

Free Public Wi-Fi

The Butler Public Library provides free wireless internet access for our patrons to use on their laptops or other wireless-enabled mobile devices for email and web access. Most free wireless "hot spots" are not secure, so be cautious and do not transmit your credit card information, passwords, or other sensitive personal information while using the Library's "hot spot."

All wireless access users should have up-to-date virus protection installed on their laptops or wireless devices and should be using personal headphones when playing music or watching movies. The Butler Public Library is not responsible for laptops or other electronic devices left unattended in the Library.
